93% of notMYkid national parents would "definitely recommend" the program to other parents. (Arizona State University study data) notMYkid national, a non-profit program, works with the parents of middle school students nationwide to stop drug use before it starts.

notMYkid national consists of two parts:

The presentation of drug prevention information and strategies to parents

The distribution of free home drug testing kits to parents to be used as a prevention tool

7th Grade is now the average age when kids begin experimenting with drugs
